

- Thanks to the Jerry Taylor & Nancy Bryant Fund, four young adults were served by a new paid intern and mentorship program for those transitioning out of the foster care system.
- Through internships funded by the Division of Forestry, six high school students delivered 419 programs on urban forestry and conservation.
- The Munson Foundation funded the Museum's participation in a three-year partnership with Everglades National Park and the Florida Aquarium to deliver Everglades programming to teachers and students.

- The Museum showcased its first Podcast during the opening of the DinoMight! exhibit.
- A grant from the A.D. Henderson Foundation supported the Museum's Science is Everywhere program, enabling the Museum to provide a program of basic science literacy to 316 at-risk, preschool children and their parents.
- Broward County Schools BECON television network featured the Museum's educators and exhibits on 15 Real Time Science Connections television programs, which were broadcast in every classroom in the County.

- Happy Feet Snow Adventure and the IMAX film "Happy Feet" provided a cool opportunity for visitors to learn about penguins and global warming.

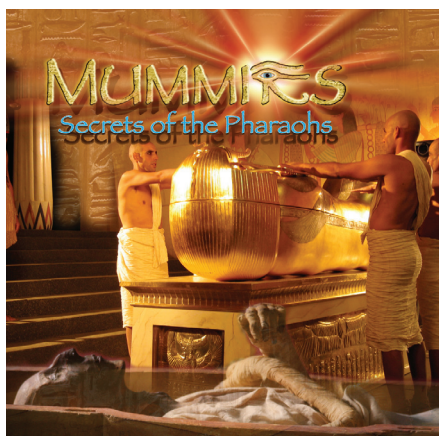

Visitors participate in the Museum's annual Ladybug release.
